“ Our family memories of Rex and Joyce includes visits to their cabin in Michigan. Rex would decide who received the honor of washing the dishes by who was "fortunate" enough to find blue berries in their pancakes. Joyce would remind everyone visiting the "creek" to wear their life jackets. Summer. or winter, Rex and Joyce enjoyed sharing their cabin with family and friends. Rex was a man of faith who knew his God and his Bible. Rex, also, loved farming. Some of his greatest spiritual insights came to him while tilling and planting his fields. We will forever remember his practical wit and humor. Alice Ann (Norris), Earl Howell and the Norris family.

“ I was always a Grandpa's girl from riding in the combine, sitting on his lap in his big chair watching westerns to hearing him get up early for his morning Bible studies and asking him questions about Jesus. Grandpa was actually the first one I told that I had asked Jesus into my heart. I loved riding my bike down to grandma and grandpa's house to spend time with them. Then when I became older, married, and had kids of my own....it was instant love seeing my children look up to their great Grandpa. Even though he couldn't run after them, he held them, tickled them, and even roared like a dinosaur....which both of my children loved! We will all miss you grandpa, but are rejoicing that you are reunited with many who have gone before you including grandma. I miss you both so much and will always cherish the times I had with you both. - Love Brittany

“ He was the brother I looked up to the most. He was all ways kind to me, but he also loved to tease his little sister. I loved him. I know Jesus will take Rex to be in his presence. Love Bonnie
