“ Hi sweetheart it's mommy . I use to be so mad at god because he blessed me with one of my dreams come true . He blessed me with becoming your mommy than he tooked you away without even telling me why . I then realized that god needed u for a very important job , and that job was to be my guardian angel . So I'm no longer mad at god anymore , because I know that someday I get to see you and hold you once again in my arms . But until then my sweetheart I'll be holding you in my heart . I will always be your mommy forever and always. I love you so very much sweetheart and I miss you . Rest in peace my sweetheart I'll see you soon when god decides to take me home . Love always mommy
