“ The year after my mother passed away in 1958, Aunt Esther came to stay the better part of her summer break with my dad and me, taking care of our home, fixing meals and being a "nanny" to me during that time. My dad tried to persuade her to stay on in the fall, but her dedication to teaching called her back to New Haven and her commitment to classroom. I'll never forget that summer and the sacrifice Aunt Esther made for our family during that difficult time. I don't know that I ever really properly thanked her for what she had done for this young man growing up, but it really made a difference in my life. Thanks to you, Aunt Esther!
