“ Today was probably the hardest day of my life. But it was also the most beautiful thing I have ever experienced . I couldn't be more proud to say that I got to speak on behalf of such an amazing girl like you heather. Although you and Heath are both now missing from my life, you will forever be in my heart. I have the best guardian angels in the world and I know that you guys will have my back, always. I hope you are both looking down on us and seeing the strength that we all desperately needed, and now have because of you. I couldn't be happier that you guys are together now, because I know how badly you couldn't wait for that day to come. I will miss you both every second of my life. But I will not be selfish and be angry that I don't get to have you anymore. You are where you belong now, right there with Heath. Thank you so much for letting me be such a big part of your life, and letting me into your family that I will always consider my own. I will never have a friend like you. Rest in paradise babies. I'll be seeing you

“ I am so sorry for your loss, I am her cousin, on her dads side and used to babysit her when the girls were little. She was a beautiful young girl. But God had more plans for her than we know. I am sorry I can't be there for you Haley but I have health issues, so very sorry for your loss. I love you all and May God Be With you and guide you through life. Love you always Judy.

“ To Karen, a young ago high school friend, I am so sorry for your family's loss. Heather's birthday is the same day (many years in between) as my own. It is also the date that my own son passed away. I wish I had memories to share of Amanda but I know one way of healing for you will be to remember her and remember her and remember her, I would love to hear your memories of her one day. I am often in Bluffton as my youngest son and his family live there. When you are ready, let's meet for coffee. Sandy Shelly
