“ I worked at Caylor-Nickel in the Laboratory from 1963 until I moved to North Carolina in 1984. I had the privilege of "secretly" performing the blood tests for Henrietta and Dr. Harold's marriage license. I still have the monkey wood dish thank you they gave me upon their return from Hawaii.

Henrietta was a very special and unassuming person.

“ Carol and family: We are at my sister's in Virginia for the week and, therefore, will not be able to see you...
Henrietta was one of our favorite people--thoughtful and caring--and fun as well. We will miss her.
I know her passing was not unexpected, but I also know it leaves a hole in your heart...please know that you're in our thoughts and our prayers this week.

“ I didn't know Mrs. Caylor personally, but a friend of mine who works at the clinic mentioned to me that Mrs. Caylor was such a nice person. I am always looking for information about my grandmother (who passed away when my own mother was 18 months old). She worked as a nurse for the first Dr. Caylor. I took a chance and contacted Mrs. Caylor to see if she could find any pictures or records of my ancestor. She failed to find anything, but kindly corresponded with me more than once and sent me information about Caylor-Nickel Clinic. I shall always be grateful for her kind efforts. My sympathies to her family upon losing such a lovely person.##imported-begin##Nancyanna Townsend##imported-end##

“ When River Terrace Estates opened, I was invited to come and "stitch" with a few ladies every Thursday morning. Henrietta was one of those dear ladies who shared from the wealth of her experiences and wisdom as we quilted and embroidered. After she finished her hand-work projects she would come just to visit, and we will miss her. Her soft-spoken manner, positive attitude and joy she took in lovely things all added to what made Henrietta classy lady. I will never smell a lilac without thinking of her. She was a dear friend.##imported-begin##Sherry Mann##imported-end##

“ What a lovely, caring, quiet, unassuming lady Henrietta was. Not pretentious, as she could have been, never wanting the lime light for all the wonderful things she did. The entire community and the Republican party will miss Henrietta greatly !! God needed a loving, faithful and willing worker, so He called Henrietta home.##imported-begin##Glenna Plummer##imported-end##
