“ I can hear that laugh still today.....I can see that big smile still today.....all the way back to high school. Football....I was maybe 120 pounds, Kenny was 180 or so. Blocking drill, two lines. I had to block while someone else ran through. I started counting back the other line, hoping it was someone small and easy. When I got there, guess who it was? Number 77.....Kenny.....and he had already figured it out. He was looking right at me and he was laughing. As the line moved he became even more engaged. He couldn't wait for this collision and he was letting everyone know it. He was laughing so hard I decided to hit him with everything I had which brought on a big grunt from Kenny.....it also brought out some colorful language.....which brought out a response from Coach Fornshell.....ELLENBERGER!!!! The same thing I had heard several times in the locker room.

I'm gonna miss the big red head, one of my dearest friends and someone I had total respect for. A monster loss for Bluffton and the entire area. As my dad (who went all the way back to Jess) would say, "there's nobody better than Bob and Kenny ELLENBERGER, period!"

And, I agree with that statement.

“ Sending my sympathy and prayers to Jill and the Ellenberger family. I have a few special memories of the Ellenberger auctions that served our community. My dad, Walter Speheger and my mom Mary, would help clerk the auctions with Dale, Bob And Ken. And I think my dad even did a bit of match making with Kenny and Jill. Ken will be missed and I'm sure his legacy will go on forever.

“ I have worked with Kenny for many years. If we would have written a book of all the auctions we worked together and of the stories of enjoying our Ellenberger working family it would have been a large book for sure. It was always interesting to drive him to a work site and listen to his story of so many places, along the way, pointing out each place and who lived there and his memory of the auction. His mind was very sharp. He will be missed.

“ So very thankful for Ken's support and friendship. I will especially remember his line..."Hey, I have a curveball for you"...whenever he wanted to change something about an auction set up! He was a special man with a wealth of knowledge and passion for the Auction Business. I will miss our conversations. Praying for peace and comfort for the entire family.

Jill and family I am so sorry. You have my deepest sympathy. You may not remember me but I substituted for you at Lincoln Life when you took care of your mom with her broken leg. Bruce Badiac and Marilyn Thiele were in that department. I think of those days sometimes and think about reconnecting but time passes. Remember the good times you had with Kenny. God will put his arms around you and hug you tight. Barb Langley Fischer

“ In Ken’s passing we have lost a great local historian. Ken could recall ownership of seemingly every farm as well as Wells County businesses. His wonderful collection of local items demonstrated his passion for Wells County. I shall miss sharing new local history discoveries with Ken.

“ So sorry and keeping all the family in our prayers. One memory we have of Kenny: He came to our house once and noticed we had about 4 shelves of Avon Quail on display. Later at an auction, he said, “I have something for you. “. He went out and brought in an Avon Pheasant thinking that is what we collected. We placed it in the middle of all our quail for a conversation piece. Much later we sold all our collection.

“ I had the good fortune to learn the art of Canada walleye fishing from Kenny through many trips to Northern Ontario. Ken enjoyed sharing his passion with fishing to many in our groups over the years. I'll never forget the back and forth between Ken and Ed Hanrahan on the best method to use. The two of them always presented the antithesis of fishing techniques.

But most of all I'll remember Ken as being the family man. He cared so deeply for his family and often spoke of them. My prayers are with them now in their time of grief.

“ Knew Ken for awhile. I'd drive him up to the lake a few times and mowed his yard and watched over his more important auctions staying all nite watching over them. Enjoyed being around Ken. One auction in particular I found a book that that had Ken and his wife in the early years of their romance and how much Ken fell for Jill which I read out loud to Ken. He sat there with a big smile on his face. Going to miss him but he is home now. My deepest condolences to the family and will be in my thoughts and prayers.

“*I'm so glad I was able to visit my friend an hour before he passed into Heaven. We had a lot of good times together over the years. We did many auctions together the last 16 years. There were some good times at the Wawasee cottage that he was very proud of. It's hard to say good by to my friend but I know you are not in any more pain or discomfort.
