“ Our sincere sympathy to all of you. We were just talking about Lois a couple weeks ago and wondering where she was and how she was doing. I remember the day she brought back the baby bed she borrowed for Nathan - we were heading to the hospital for our baby when she came. We had a good laugh about that. We used to call each other once in a while, but then lost contact. She loved her family very much. Cherish your memories. She's now with your Dad and in God's loving care.
