“ Just as the sun will set then rise again with each and every dawn, the souls of those whom we loved will forever live on in our memories. Now that Aunt Nellie has passed on, she now is greeted by all those that have pass over before her and she is at peace with those who love her on the other side. We will miss her but we will see her again when we take that journey that we will all take eventually. The memory of her will live on in your hearts until you see her again. With Heartfelt Sympathy.
